

San Juan Mountains Association

For more than two decades, members and volunteers of the non-profit San Juan Mountains Association have supported and guided our programs to:

Educate through hands-on involvement, inspire through personal experience, energize through cooperation and appreciation, and motivate today's youth ~ and all generations ~ to respect and treasure our natural and cultural resources.

As a non-profit organization, the San Juan Mountains Association assists the US Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management to promote public education, conservation and interpretation. Our goal is to instill in the public a land ethic ~ a sense of pride in and appreciation for how our actions as stewards impact the integrity of our Public Lands.

Please visit www.sjma.org or call us at 970-385-1312 to learn more about how you can get involved and become a member.

Mountain Lion! is a captivating exhibit created to foster an understanding of the nature of these powerful predators and their long, historic relation to people. The exhibition features dioramas, hands-on learning experiences, fossil representations of extinct cougar relatives, extraordinary wildlife photography and interpretive displays.

Open at the Center of Southwest Studies, Fort Lewis College, Durango, CO, through September 2010, the exhibit will later travel to museums and nature centers throughout the greater Southwest including the States of Utah, Colorado, California, Arizona, and New Mexico.

PUMAS on PARADE

With this guide, you can track magnificent “mountain lions” to their “dens.”

These puma sculptures are part of Pumas on Parade ~ a San Juan Mountains Association public art project designed to teach resource and wildlife values, showcase local talent, and support SJMA's programs and mission.

Some 17 larger-than-life-size mountain lion sculptures are on permanent display in Durango, Mancos, Cortez, and Dolores, CO, as well as Moab, UT.

Each puma was cast from a mold of “On the Alert,” the original bronze by renowned artist, Rosetta (Loveland, CO) ~ and every fantastic feline reflects a different artist's individual expression and interpretation.
